WEEKLY BULLETIN

Phil's 'Osophy'

Well...May already, and I've been particularly slack in the last few months due to work commitments and some personal matters to be attended.

No excuses though, I will be back on deck from next week to round out the year.

The Peter Wylie Award again seems to be in trouble, with Apprentices Group Australia not answering calls. This is a real disappointment, given the positive start last year. I have not given up, but time waits for no man, and its getting late now.

The cluster activity also seems to have slowed over the past few months. It seems to me that we often lose momentum after the Christmas holiday and summer period. This is something I have observed in previous years, and something to address in the future. I encourage the new board to be mindful, and put in place some activity to fill the gap next year.

Meanwhile, I am quite out of touch, but will try to remedy that in the coming weeks.

On a positive note, I welcome Christine as our newest member. Welcome Christine, I trust your Rotary 'career' will be rewarding for you, our community and our club.

Till next week..

Phil Walters
President

JENNY RAVLIC The effect of additives on health, education and learning.

Following on from Tess O'Shea's highly impressive presentation on how to disease-proof our diet, Jenny gave us an excellent insight on how additives can affect each and every one of us—from small children (we all know the effects of red cordial(!) to how that flows on into adulthood. She told us how to read food labels and what to look for. How manufacturers can "bury" nasties like MSG by combining it with another ingredient. All in all, a very valuable and interesting presentation; one we should all take note of.
